NAVIGATING SUCCESS TOGETHER

Feature Spotlight

Take Control of your Workspace with Personalization

Did you know you can completely change how Business Central looks to match exactly how you work? You don't need an administrator to hide fields you never use or to bring important metrics to the top of your screen.

How to get started:

1. Click the Settings gear icon in the top right corner and select "Personalize".
2. Hover over any column banner, field, or action button.
3. Click the red arrow to hide, move, or make a field required.
4. Click "Done" in the top banner to save your changes.

Pro Tip: Use this on your Sales Orders or Purchase Orders page to hide fields your company doesn't use, drastically reducing scrolling time for your data entry team.

Before AI, Fix Your Finance Foundation

See why clean, governed data is key to building an AI-ready finance team.

As finance teams grow, so do the demands on their financial systems. In our latest podcast, Dominick Zappia, Partner at Admiral Consulting Group, sits down with Gurpreet Chaggar, Product Marketing Manager at Prophix, to explore why an ERP may be the system of record—but shouldn't necessarily be the system for everything finance needs.

They dive into how CPM and FP&A can help growing organizations move beyond spreadsheet-heavy processes, improve budgeting and forecasting, streamline financial close, and enable smarter scenario planning. Plus, discover why clean, governed data is the real starting point for building AI-ready finance.

If you're rethinking your finance architecture or wondering whether your ERP can keep up with your growth, this conversation is worth a listen.
